DISTRICT ATTORNEY RENDERS DECISION ON COUNTY REVALUATION

Swart Holds Appointment of Appraisors to Make a Revaluation of County to be
Contrary to Statute

In an opinion handed down to the board of supervisors yesterday, District Attorney Franklin Swart held that it would be illegal for the board to hire any persons or outside agencies to carry on a reappraisal of the assessment valuations of San Mateo county. This work can only be done, in the opinion of Swart, by and under the direction of the county assessor.

County Assessor D. P. Flynn at the meeting of the supervisors last Monday submitted a tentative proposal for the appointment of a Director of performance with the necessary assistants to aid him, at an estimated total cost of $62,000. This proposal was submitted to District Attorney Swart for his legal opinion and the board adjourned on Monday until yesterday in order to hear the opinion of the district attorney.

Accepting the opinion of Swart, the board, acting on the suggestion of the district attorney, decided to ask Assemblyman Harry M. Parkman to incorporate in the county government bill this year a provision for extra help for Assessor Flynn to carry on the revaluation work.

On motion of Supervisor Hickey, seconded by Supervisor Poole, the district attorney was directed to confer with the county assessor and then submit a recommendation to the board to be used in preparing the necessary resolution to be sent to Assemblyman Parkman covering the amount of help that will be required by the assessor's office in carrying on the work.

After covering the legal phases of the situation, District Attorney Swart said he felt that the entire reassessment work of the county could be done at an expenditure not to exceed $14,000 and he suggested that there would be no difficulty in securing efficient, intelligent and honest citizens of San Mateo county to make the assessments, calling attention to the fact that the local banks, building and loan associations and business men do not depend for property valuations for San Mateo county on experts from distant places.

In the discussion, which followed the reading of the district attorney's opinion, County Assessor Flynn said he would not accept the assessments made by persons outside of his office unless the figures had been checked by him. In commenting on the district attorney's suggestion relative to the number of men to be employed in the revaluation work and the probable cost, Flynn said he would not like to be tied down to any definite figures, as it would be rather difficult to estimate just how long it would take to complete the reassessments.

Swart's Opinion

The opinion of District Attorney Swart relative to the revaluation work reads as follows:

Board of Supervisors of San Mateo county, State of California. Gentlemen:

Your Board on February 16th requested from this office an opinion as to the legality of a certain proposition submitted to the Board on that date. The proposition is entitled "Appraisal Board Organization".

The proposal provides in part as follows:

1. The Board of Supervisors shall appoint a Director of Work, who shall have general supervision of appraisal work and employ the necessary personnel, at a salary of $350 per month.

2. There shall be employed an Assistant Director, who shall be a building appraiser, at a salary of $325 per month.

3. There shall be employed six building appraisers and six land appraisers, with salaries ranging from $200 to $250 per month.

4. Extra men may be employed locally to assist in obtaining appraisal values at $1.00 to $1.50 per hour.

(No. 5 refers to employment of office girls, and No. 6 to employment of typists.)

7. A monthly payroll of the above employees made out by the Director and countersigned by... representing the Board of Supervisors, shall be honored by the County Auditor and warrants issued therefrom on the County Treasurer.

8. The County shall furnish suitable office space, furniture, typewriters, calculating machines, etc.

9. Seeks to regulate hours of work.

10. Refers to dismissal.

11. States it is planned that the work shall be completed in fifteen months.

12. It is estimated the cost of labor and supplies shall be $62,000. In advance it may be noted that there is absolutely no protection to the County as to how much will be done under the $62,000, or when this work will be completed.

True, it is planned to be completed in fifteen months and it is estimated that the cost will be $62,000. The act remains that if at the end of fifteen months, or sooner, the Board will have exhausted, the Board will have absolutely no protection except either to stop the work as a loss to the county, or otherwise to increase and keep on increasing the amount until the work is completed.

A very serious question is also involved as to the legality of this work.

We refer first to the least important, to-wit, No. 7, which provides that a monthly payroll, made out by the Director and countersigned by a supervisor, shall be honored by the County Auditor and warrants issued thereon by the County Treasurer. This provision is in direct violation of Subdivision 12, Section 4041 of the Political Code, which provides among the duties of the Board of Supervisors "to examine, settle and allow all accounts legally chargeable against the county, except salaries of officers as fixed by law", and after claims are thus allowed it becomes the duty of the Board to order warrants to be drawn on the county treasurer.

We next refer to the more serious questions involved.

Section 3928 of the Political Code refers to the duties of the assessor and in part provides as follows: "The assessor must, between the first Mondays in March and July of each year, ascertain the names of all taxable inhabitants and all the property in his county subject to taxation, except such as is required to be assessed by the State Board of Equalization, and must assess such property to the persons by whom it was owned or claimed, or in whose possession or control it was at 12 o'clock meridian of the first Monday in March next preceding."

Section 4 of Article 11 and Section 9 of Article 11 of the Constitution provide that the State Legislature shall provide by general and uniform laws for the election or appointment of county officers. Section 9 of Article 11 of the Constitution provides that the salary of such county officer shall not be increased during his term of office. Section 3928 of the Political Code specifies in part the duties of the County Assessor. They county assessor is provided for by general law, his duties are fixed by general law and his salary can not be increased during his term of office, nor can any assistance be provided for him by the Board of Supervisors. Such assistance must be provided by the State Legislature.

We might as well face the fact that there is a general dissatisfaction with assessments in San Mateo County and that the real purpose of the present activity of the Board of Supervisors is to bring about a reassessment. The question here involved is not one of difficulties of the Board of Supervisors sitting as a Board of Equalization. The real meat of the cocoanut is the question of assessment, or re-assessment.

In recent years there has been considerable activity by certain so-called "experts" who seek employment with Boards of Supervisors under the guise of furnishing information to the Board of Supervisors sitting as a Board of Equalization. The precedent for such arrangement is found in the case of Haley & Company of California, vs. McVay, County Auditor of Del Norte County. In this case, apparently to avoid the decision of Forward vs. San Diego, the Board adopted a resolution to the following effect:

"It being deemed that a classification of the patent timber and other lands subject to assessment and taxation in Del Norte County is necessary in order to enable this

POPULAR PRESENTATION

Local Cast of Fifty Persons
Chosen for Showing of Ade Comedy

Redwood City Exchange Club announces an event that is of prime interest to theatre goers of Redwood City, in that this organization has made arrangements for the presentation here of the collegiate musical comedy, "Collegians." This is the production that scored such a tremendous success at Palo Alto last fall, as staged for Palo Alto Elks, and will be coached here by Jack Reber, who had charge of the Palo Alto production as well as all other western presentations of "Collegians."

The show will be given with an all local cast numbering fifty players. Rehearsals are already under way, and the quality of the material that is in line for presenting this show should cause it to take rank as one of the finest musical attractions that has been seen here in recent years.

Reber has presented "Collegians" at San Jose, Santa Barbara, San Diego, Long Beach, Pasadena, Riverside, Fresno, Bakersfield, Stockton, Sacramento, Reno, Santa Rosa and Oakland. The show is a George Ade type of collegiate musical comedy, patterned after Ade's great collegiate successes, "The College Widow" and "The Fair Coed."

Redwood City Exchange Club is sponsoring the show to raise funds for their charity work. The show will be staged at Sequoia Union High School on Friday evening, March 13.

President Ed Scott, of Exchange, has appointed Harvey Coner chairman of the show committee, assisted by Bob Murphy, Al Davies, Jim Eva, Al Sparks, Frank Griffin, Doug Hall and Lindsay Gray.

PLANS DISCUSSED HERE FOR PROPOSED COUNTY MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM

Building Proposed To House Conventions,
Festivals and Other Gatherings, Meets
With Approval of City Officials

Plans for a county auditorium to house conventions, festivals, meetings of various sorts and other activities of a county-wide nature were discussed at a meeting held in the supervisors chambers at the county courthouse Wednesday evening. The meeting was attended by representatives from the various communities of the county, and was in the nature of a round table discussion. Elmer A. Roberts, chairman of the committee which has been making the preliminary plans for such an auditorium, acted as the presiding officer.

Roberts opened the meeting by outlining to those present the needs of such a project and reviewing the work which his committee had done toward it. Mrs. F. M. Perkins, secretary of the committee read the minutes of the last meeting of that body.

Roberts told of having seen such a building in Massachusetts, and told of the favorable impression that a memorial auditorium of this type would create. The largest building in the county, he said, was the San Mateo Junior College gymnasium, where the county floral festival was held last year. This building, he said, was not even large enough for San Mateo and Burlingame's local needs for the construction of a building of this type. It was stated that this could not be done, as the buildings so erected must be devoted to the exclusive use of veterans' organizations. McCulloch stated that 22 counties of the state have taken advantage of this mill tax for providing memorial buildings for the veterans. Chairman Roberts stated that he believed that the auditorium would probably have to be financed by means of a bond issue.

Mayor Weeden of Menlo Park also spoke in regard to the financing of the building, and said with regard to location, that if it were planned to use such a building for conventions, it would have to be where ample hotel accommodations could be provided.

A report was read from E. L. Norberg, Burlingame architect, with regard to the estimated cost of such a structure. The cost Norberg estimated would be about $80 per seat, or figuring on a cubic foot basis would be from 25 to 50 cents per cubic foot, depending upon the class of building planned and type of finish employed.

The proposed use of the building for floral festivals was reported upon in a letter from P. H. Graves, who later spoke on the same subject. The building would need, he said, at least 20 or 25 acres of land, if it were to be used for horse shows and similar events as contemplated. This amount of land, he said, could be landscaped and planted to flowers, and blooms could be produced which would provide a display of the county's floral products for at least 10 months out of the year. Graves stated that the flower industry in this county is one of the largest industries and one which should be advertised. Acacia blooms sent out of this county this year, he stated, were valued at $60,000. The chrysanthemum crop represented a value of at least $10,000,000 including those sent out of local markets. The blooms sent out by refrigerator cars this year, he said, represented $7,500,000.

In addition to these two crops the nursery stock and other flowers would be estimated, he said, at about $4,000,000.

In view of these facts, and of the fact that this auditorium should be used to display the flower resources of this county, Graves suggested as a name for the contemplated building, San Mateo County Floricultural Palace.

The meeting was informed concerning the auditoriums in Sacramento, Stockton, Merced and other cities by Dave McCulloch, of San Mateo. These are memorial buildings, he said, and are used by the American Legion and other veterans organizations for conventions and such gatherings.

In regard to the suggestion that the cities of San Mateo and Burlingame might supply a site for the building if it were found feasible for the county as a whole to finance the construction, Mayor C. A. Buck of Burlingame, addressed the meeting in regard to this suggestion, saying that he did not believe that any district should be called upon to give the land for a project of this type, and suggested that the committee should report on the general feeling in regard to the location of the building.

Mayor Daniel R. Stafford of Redwood City spoke for this community. Stafford after recalling that the county has for two years won the floral sweepstakes at the California state fair, and advocating any proposition which will place the flower industry of this county before the people of the state said, "As for Redwood City, we don't care where it is to be, we are for it." This was met with hearty applause from the gathering. Stafford continued by saying that there had been considerable talk of annexation to San Francisco. If annexation did take place San Francisco would assume our bonded indebtedness. If this is the case, we can well afford to put ourselves on the map by bonding ourselves for $400,000 for a project of this kind, said Mayor Stafford.

Mayor Taylor of San Mateo spoke in regard to the plans for financing the auditorium. He asked McCulloch if the one mill tax which is allowed for the financing of memorial buildings or the use of veterans' organizations could be legally used for the construction of a building of this type. It was stated that this could not be done, as the buildings so erected must be devoted to the exclusive use of veterans' organizations. McCulloch stated that 22 counties of the state have taken advantage of this mill tax for providing memorial buildings for the veterans. Chairman Roberts stated that he believed that the auditorium would probably have to be financed by means of a bond issue.

Mayor Weeden of Menlo Park also spoke in regard to the financing of the building, and said with regard to location, that if it were planned to use such a building for conventions, it would have to be where ample hotel accommodations could be provided.

Mayor Cowling of San Carlos suggested that instead of a single committee, as had been previous suggested, that two committees be appointed by the chairman. One a ways and means committee to report on methods of financing the building, and another committee on the plans and location for the building itself. He stated that the people of San Carlos would support the project in whatever part of the county the building was located, but that if it were desired to have it in the "second garden of Eden," if it would have to be in San Carlos.

Mayor Jordan of Belmont also spoke in favor of the proposed auditorium, as did Louis Lengfeld, president of the Burlingame chamber of commerce, and Franklin MacVeigh, secretary of the San Mateo chamber of commerce. The latter emphasized the importance of such a building would have as an advertising asset to the county.

After a general discussion of the plans the date of the next meeting was set for March 18, and the meeting was adjourned.

Funeral Held for Francis M. Coffin

Francis Marion Coffin, father of Mrs. George A. Deleau of this city and veteran newspaper man of California, passed away in his Oakland home Tuesday.

Mr. Coffin crossed the plains in a covered wagon coming from Illinois with his parents. He spent his boyhood days in Plumas county. As a young man he secured a job with a Virginia City, Nevada, paper, when Mark Twain was one of its reporters. Working on several California papers he became friendly with Bret Harte. He joined the Chronicle mechanical staff in San Francisco and remained with that paper until 1915, when he retired.

Mr. Coffin married Miss Johanna McClellan, a Redwood City girl and member of a well-known local pioneer family. The wife was related to the Captain O'Conner family here and also the Joseph Leather family. The O'Connors occupied a beautiful home on Broadway, on the site of the present Sequoia Theatre. Leather was a pioneer sea faring man of the coast.

Three daughters survive. They are Mrs. Robert Johnson of Oakland, Mrs. George A. Deleau of Redwood City and Miss Mary Coffin of Oakland with whom Mr. Coffin had been making his home since his retirement from business. He also leaves one son, Bert Coffin of Alameda.

The funeral was held yesterday morning from his home in Oakland.

New Knights of Pythias Lodge Forming Here

Plan Institution of Lodge
Here on March 7th;
Deputy Working

A lodge of Knights of Pythias will be instituted here on March 7, according to Tom L. Hicks, special deputy grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, who is in charge of the promotion work for the order, and who is here with the purpose of organizing a new lodge of that order. Hicks states that he already has sufficient applications to start the new lodge, but will continue securing applications until the date at which the lodge is to be constituted. He states that he believes that the new lodge can be started here with a membership of more than one hundred.

The first meeting of Knights of Pythias here is to be held this evening at Mason's Studio at eight o'clock. Members of the order are invited to attend this gathering, when plans will be made or the organization of the lodge here. Deputy Hicks has just completed the organization of a new lodge in San Jose composed of young men under 30 years of age. This makes the 15th new lodge to be organized by him since June of last year.

All persons interested in the new lodge are invited to interview either Hicks or Sydney Mason at Mason's Studio.

Jean Croset, colored, arrested on February 7 in San Mateo, pleaded not guilty to a charge of burglary, while two companions arrested at the same time both entered pleas of guilty. The two who pleaded guilty were Robert Campbell and James Bailey, also known as Wallace, both colored, and former convicts.

The other man was Avelardo DeSoto, who was arraigned before Judge Buck, and whose plea will be heard tomorrow.

At the same hearing George S. Lowder, who was charged with driving a machine while under the influence of liquor, was granted probation. Lowder was arrested on the first of January, and has been at liberty on a $1000 property bond.

Jack Hennessey, charged with manslaughter in connection with the shooting of Jack Mills of Belmont, was to have received a report on his application for probation. The report of Probation Officer Francis Robinson, has been postponed from time to time owing to the fact that Hennessey is confined to the Letterman hospital in San Francisco. It was postponed this time for one week.

RADIO STATIONS MAY BE LOCATED IN SAN MATEO CO.

It appeared probable this week that two of the highest powered radio broadcasting stations on the Pacific Coast may be located within San Mateo county within the very near future. The decision of the federal radio commission granting to stations KPO and KGO the permit to increase their output to 50,000 watts, which is expected shortly, made this likely.

It is understood that both stations contemplated the erection of broadcasting units in this county provided the necessary permit could be secured from the government for the increased power. The commissioner who was delegated to investigate the petitions of the two big stations has recommended that the commission grant the permits. The favorable action on the part of the commission is now considered a certainty.

Station KGO last year purchased a tract of fifty acres near Belmont from the Port San Francisco project, and it was understood that the tract was purchased for the purpose of erecting the new broadcasting station. It is also reported that KPO, which is owned and operated by Hale Bros., Incorporated, of San Francisco will very likely be located near here, as the owners of the station have a large holding in the hills near Burlingame, and it is thought likely that this tract will be utilized for the proposed superstation.

An investigation was instigated this week into the alleged plot to poison Louis Figone, Colma artichoke grower, and all of his ranch hands, and which almost resulted in the poisoning of Constable A. S. Landini and Chief of Police Joseph Cavalli of Lawndale.

The poison plot was discovered earlier in the week when some macaroni soup was served at the ranch house. The men noticed that the soup was bitter, and decided not to eat it. The soup was thrown out, and was eaten by four hogs and a dog. All five animals died soon after eating the poisoned soup.

Believing that a plot existed to kill himself and his hired help, Figone sent for Constable Landini and Chief Cavalli. Figone offered the officers a drink of wine and drew some for himself and for the other men. Figone drank his wine, but Landini noticed a peculiar taste to the liquor, and warned the others not to drink it. Figone was immediately taken ill and showed signs of having been poisoned.

The officers investigated the wine casks and found that it contained a small bottle, which is believed to have contained the poison. The cork was found floating on the surface of the liquor, indicating that the bottle had been dropped into the cask, cork and all. A similar bottle, which is believed to have contained the poison which was found in the soup was discovered thrown under the same cask.

The facts so far discovered, and the further fact that a vicious dog is maintained at the ranch, have led to the conclusion that the poison attempt was done by someone on the ranch. Racketeering activities of a group who want to control the artichoke output of this section are thought to have been behind the poison plot.

Sheriff McGrath has been called upon to assist the local officers in investigating the attempts.

The matter was investigated by Sheriff McGrath and Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Neel. The two bottles which had contained the poison were brought to the county jail for examination, also another bottle, which contained poison and which was kept at the arm house for use in poisoning the soup and wine as is used by the ranchers in poisoning gophers. An effort was being made by the sheriff's office to determine where the poison was purchased, and by whom.

MOTHERS' TEARS WIN PROBATION FOR YOUTHS

It has been well said that "a boy's best friend is his mother." This trite saying was exemplified in the superior court yesterday afternoon, when two young men, just eighteen, came before Judge Buck to plead to a charge of burglary. The mothers of the youngsters were in court, and with burning tears pleaded for their boys with more eloquence than any attorney could possibly have done. Judge Buck was moved by the mothers' pleas. He permitted one of the boys to accompany his parent to Kansas City. The other was allowed to go with his father to Bakersfield.

Editorial Joys and Sorrows

The reading public, which nowadays includes pretty nearly every person above the age of three or four years, is always inquisitive and sometimes very critical regarding the mysterious personages called editors, whose function it is to pick and choose the supply of printed material for the insatiable maw of the printing presses.

What qualifications should a good editor have? How should he make his selections? Are present-day editors performing their duties efficiently and effectively? Is the public satisfied with them?

All these questions were brought sharply into the public eye a few days ago in a remarkable radio address by Sumner Blossom, editor of the American Magazine.

"The editor's job," he said, "is comparable to that of a mail carrier. He has to go out and get something and deliver it. When this is done, he has to go out and get something else and deliver that. The minute he stops delivering he has turned from being a good servant to being a poor one. Nothing counts except a continuous and effective performance."

"The search for the fresh, the new and the original is his unending task. Able writers are the scarcest and most valuable things in the world. Competition for ability is so great among editors that no potential source of talent can be overlooked."

"Above all, the editor must remember that the public does not grow old along with him. The individual grows older—but the public, always changing, is always young. And so it is that I suggest to editors and writers that they keep young. Youth is the age of enthusiasm, and enthusiasm therefore is the most useful quality a writer can have."

"No job I know is more difficult than that of editing material for public consumption. Other creative folks can stand face to face with their audiences and catch reactions immediately. But the editor must say his decisions on paper and send them out into the world, knowing that from then on he is their slave. Fortunately for his peace of mind, people in the main are generous, and for every letter of criticism there is sure to be at least one expressing appreciation of his efforts."

In Search of Prosperity

Business and political leaders, looking ahead in search of prosperity, have agreed upon an axiom that America's well-being cannot be advanced by narrow international policies. But application of the axiom to present-day condition is not so easy. Albert H. Wiggin, chairman of the Chase National Bank, thinks it points to a reduction of war debts and a lowering of tariffs. Collier's Weekly, strenuously nationalistic, takes a middle ground by asserting bluntly that "our prosperity depends on the earning capacity and well-being of the people of all the world."

Muck-Raking Season

February is the anniversary month of the births of Washington and Lincoln, at which time new historians break into print with their discoveries about these great national heroes. In recent publications former President Lincoln was described as "unkempt," "lazy," etc. Washington also is "re-discovered" each February with fresh unholy imperfections.

Somebody ought to strangle a few of these sensational mongers who show up annually at this time of the year.

Appearances Are Deceiving

We occasionally see a person who swells around town with the air of fighting cocks in a pen of croaky bantams. He has all the swagger of a millionaire at a poorhouse, yet we know of some little bills which he has owed for some time and claims he cannot pay because of "business depression." If such persons would depress their creditors at the same time they depress their creditors they would cause less of a feeling of nausea among those who happen to know.

Science Looks at Crime

Scientists express the belief that the United States can diminish its shocking totals of violent crime exactly as medicine has already reduced the toll of disease. Warden Lewis E. Laves of Sing Sing prison, declares in Collier's that the first step is to abolish capital punishment as ineffectual as well as savage. Severe penalties, he insists, seldom deter criminals from violence, because judges and juries will not inflict punishment that seems too rigorous.

New Instincts of Caution

Why does anyone require instruction in safety? Are the old instincts of self interest and self preservation dead within us that we need a lot of ballyhoo and propaganda to keep us alive?

We have often wondered just where the safety movement fitted into the philosophical scheme of things but it was only by chance that we got a clue to it. A little pup not much bigger than a pint of apple beverage wanted to cross the street. The stream of cars tearing along in both directions augured ill for his expectancy. But he walked along the curb to the corner where there was a controlled pedestrian crossing and there, first looking to the left and then to the right, he crossed in safety.

That pup's ancestors undoubtedly were saved many a time from their natural enemies by their instincts of self preservation, instincts which they in turn, undoubtedly, handed down to our friend, the pup. But of what use were they against a stream of automobiles? Of what good are our senses as safeguards, when they are constantly subjected to a roar of sound, a flood of light, smells and tastes a hundred fold greater than even our immediate ancestors knew? Not much. We have to learn as did the pup that certain things are safe and others are unsafe—arbitrary, by taboo. Lake table salt and cyanide of potassium, the middle of the block or the corner with its signals.

The reason for safety propaganda is economic. The dead and mutilated are full of knowledge by experience but they are not good for much more than examples. It is cheaper to teach new instincts of caution. It is cheaper to spend money on engineering talent than learn by fire and failure. It is cheaper to instruct and insist on the right way as the only way, than to let each man try to learn by his own mistakes.—Union Oil Bulletin.

Becoming A Menace

Every day, it seems, larger trucks and trailers are seen on our highways. It stands to reason that we must have trucks on the road. They are important, but there should be some limit to the size. No one should be allowed to get out on the road with a vehicle as long and as wide as some that are now being used on our highways. And no one should be allowed to get on the road with trailers that are dangerous. The state legislature ought to pass a law limiting the length and width of automobiles which can legally traverse the roads. Many of our fatal accidents are due to these trains of cars which have been transferred from railroad tracks to highway pavement.

There is a limit to the danger to which the ordinary traveling public should submit.

You can do yourself and Redwood City a favor by insisting on purchasing the goods that are advertised in your home-town newspapers. Merchandise worth selling and worth buying is worth advertising, in this day and age of the world.

POLITICALLY SPEAKING

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, February 19—Everything is in readiness now for the second half of the 1931 legislative session, which opens here February 24. All the bills introduced at the first half of the session have been printed and are now being digested by the legislative counsel bureau.

Plenty of fire works are promised for the final session, particularly over reappointment of congressional and assembly districts, water conservation and criminal law revision.

Governor Rolph took matters into his own hands, when it appeared that the legislature wouldn't adopt his suggestion to send a California water commission to Washington, D. C., to confer with President Hoover on matters concerning a co-ordinated water program for this state.

He appointed a committee of California officials, headed by Senator Bradford S. Crittenden of Stockton, chairman of the legislative water committee; Walter E. Garrison, director of public works; Assemblyman Robert P. Easley of Antioch; Edward Hyatt, state engineer, and W. M. Wiley, Bakersfield, representing the Metropolitan water district of Los Angeles.

This committee is already in Washington, finding out how the government will provide cheap money with which to build the various projects in the state program. Meanwhile, legislators who blocked the plan when first proposed have declared they will oppose any attempt to cover the committee's expenses if a deficiency bill is offered in the coming session.

Special elections are to be held in Los Angeles and San Francisco to fill senate vacancies as the result of approval this week by Governor Rolph. The Los Angeles vacancy was occasioned by the elevation of Senator Frank E. Merriam of Long Beach to the lieutenant governorship. And in San Francisco the vacancy was caused by election of Senator Roy Felton to the full four-year term as the county's one senator under the new re-appointment plan.

It is considered certain that William L. Benedict, one of Governor Rolph's secretaries while he was mayor of San Francisco, is to be named director of the new state department of commerce, to be created by the legislature from the present state bureau of commerce. The position will pay a salary of $6,000 a year.

Bert B. Meek, former state director of public works, has followed the example of C. C. Young, former governor. Meek has leased a home on the Stanford University campus, into which he will move March 1. Governor Young has been living at Palo Alto since his retirement from office in January.

Governor Rolph appointed W. S. Richey, 66, of Merced, father of Mrs. Jane Richey, daughter-in-law of the governor, as land and property agent of the Delhi land settlement colony in Merced county. Richey took up his new duties this week. He is a former rancher of that section and is considered an authority upon irrigation and dairying.

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND CHARACTERS

Sally Todd and Lois Montgomery seek careers in New York. Sally enters hospital training, after despairing of a career in the movies, and Lois marries a wealthy man many years her senior. Their paths diverge somewhat, for Lois's husband disapproves of Sally, who is very gay. On several occasions, after late parties, she has taken drugs to carry her through the day and is dismissed from the hospital. Lois provides her with a home and Dr. Dale Randolph offers her a job. She fails in love with him. He is strongly attracted to Lois, Sally, however, is dissatisfied with him, but Lois persuades him to give her another chance. Sally, instead of being grateful, becomes jealous. Lois's husband is informed that she is in love with Randolph. He watches her closely, particularly when she is in Randolph's company. Sally's brother, Bert, who was in love with Lois at home, comes to New York. Sally tells him Lois is unhappily married and still in love with him. His attentions to Lois bring a demonstration from Walton. Lois does not suspect that her husband, who resents her failure to aid him in realizing his social ambitions, is getting very tired of her. Hoping to find her in some indiscretion, he has her shadowed. He enlists Sally as an ally.

A Decision

There was a long silence after James Walton had delivered his ultimatum and left the room. Then Lois said: "I must have been blind—he's been leading up to this for a long time. I realize it now."

Dale Randolph looked at her gravely. "Except for the trouble and unpleasantness it will cause you, I am glad this happened, for it settles a lot of things."

"You mean that?"

"I mean that I have been in love with you for a long time, but I hardly dared admit it even to myself, until just a little while ago. Now that Walton has taken this attitude—"

"You don't know what you are saying," she interrupted. "He will bring an action, and he will name you in it."

"That doesn't worry me in the least," Randolph said quickly. "He was perfectly right," she insisted, "when he said that you couldn't afford the scandal that this sort of a case involves. You can't. It will hurt you professionally—hurt you terribly. I can't let that happen. I—I care too much for you."

Dale Randolph smiled and drew a long breath. "That," he said, taking her hands, "makes everything all right with me."

She shook her head. "I made a terrible mistake when I married James Walton," she said, "and I mustn't make another now. You're the sort of man who wouldn't dream of taking advantage of anyone. And I'm that sort of woman—at least, I try to be. I've been a failure as James Walton's wife. Anyway, he thinks so, and he should know. I suppose that he has wanted to be rid of me for a long time."

"But why have you never said—?"

"I didn't guess—then. But I know now that I haven't helped him. I'm not a social success, and that's what he wants. So I must bear the consequences of my failure myself. I can't let you be drawn into the mess."

"But you're not drawing me into it," Dale Randolph insisted. "Walton is. And I'm not afraid of anything that he can do."

She pressed the palms of her hands to her eyes. "I can't talk about it any more just now," she sighed. "Please go back to town, and I'll stay here."

"I'll take you home," he began, and then stopped abruptly.

"Home," she echoed bitterly. "James has probably locked me out. I can't go back there and give him another chance to humiliate me. No, I'll stay here. Bert may come."

"Let me take you to a hotel in the city," he urged, but she made a gesture of refusal.

"I'm beginning to wonder," she said, "whether—" It would never do to let Dale Randolph know what she was thinking. Slowly the events of the past weeks began to fit themselves into a pattern that revealed many things that had hitherto puzzled her. Walton's attitude, the apparent change in his opinion of Sally, Bert's insolent, familiar air—Lois asked herself whether she hadn't been the victim of a cleverly executed scheme on the part of her husband.

She remembered how closely he had watched her whenever Dale Randolph had been their guest. There flashed into her mind the memory of a caustic remark he had made one day when she had received a gift of roses and had been puzzled because no card had been enclosed. Roses! Who could have sent them? And Walton, as if reading her thoughts, had said pointedly: "I know of one man—only one—who would be likely to send them anonymously."

Dale Randolph stood watching her with an expression of pain and bewilderment. "You're holding something back," he said. "There's something that you aren't telling me."

She gave him a wry smile. "I'm afraid that you will learn a great many unpleasant things before we are out of these woods," she said. "Without realizing it, I've done a terrible thing to you."

She silenced his protestations with a shake of her head, and said: "And now, if you want to please me, you'll go."

She watched him from the window as he walked quickly down the drive, and then went back to the fire.

For a moment she had a wild impulse to run away from everything—to leave the tangle into which she had stumbled. Then the sense of her obligation to Dale Randolph asserted itself and she tried to figure out a way to save the situation for him, at least. She knew that his work was the world to him and she could not bear the thought of being the means by which it might be hampered.

She felt that it would be useless to beg her husband not to sacrifice him, for she knew that Walton's relentless will could not be swayed, now that he had so nearly achieved his purpose.

It was almost morning before she evolved the plan that she later acted upon, and when she rose from her chair, before the dimly glowing hearth, she had put her own interests from her mind, and had set herself to the task of protecting the man she loved from the danger that menaced him.

BUYING A NEW HOME OR GOING TO MOVE?

Gas heating is the most modern

NOTICE the heating plant when selecting your next home.

The heating plant is a home's heart. If it is modern, it radiates warmth and cheerfulness.

One sure way to have modern heating is to choose a home equipped with Gas heating. Then you know you will have warmth without effort or bother.

Gas is the most convenient fuel—a finger's touch starts healthful heat flowing into the rooms. Gas is the cleanest fuel—there is no soot or dirt to soil furnishings or curtains. Gas lends itself easily to safe automatic control—no over-heating which causes plaster to crack or chilly under-heating to cause colds.

A house becomes a home only if it brings comfort and contentment. Why not see that your next home is heated with Gas? You'll have the utmost heating comfort.

Kiwanians Hear of Duck Hunting

Members of the Redwood City Kiwanis club were given a most interesting and instructive talk at the regular weekly meeting of the club Wednesday noon by Henry Beger, a member of the local club. The subject of the talk was duck hunting, a subject on which the speaker is an undoubted authority.

Beger began his talk by reviewing hunting legislation since the beginning of the state, explaining why various measures have been adopted from time to time to protect the ducks, both by the state government and by the federal government. He then explained the different types of duck clubs telling of their importance and the arguments which have been advanced both for and against the maintenance of such clubs.

The various types of ducks which frequent this section were then described by the speaker, who explained the habits of the various birds. The talk was interestingly illustrated by a large collection of mounted birds of all sorts. This collection consisted of wood ducks, bluebills, mallards, canvas backs, sprig, widgeon, spoon bills, teal of different kinds, gadwall, butterball, whistler and other species. The collection of stuffed ducks was furnished by Gordon Seeley and other members of the club. There were also on exhibition different types of duck guns, including some large bore guns which are now illegal, and also different types of shells.

The chairman of the meeting was Norman MacKenzie, another of the club's duck enthusiasts.

Stamp Club Hears Address on Russia

A rare treat was given to those who were in attendance at the meeting of the Sequoia Philatelic Society at the Little Theatre of the high school Tuesday evening when Paul Orr gave a talk on his travels in Europe and Asia, and his experiences in Russia where he served as a teacher for two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Orr, who are both Stanford graduates and who received their M. A. degrees in Columbia, went to Russia a little over two years ago. There they took their places among the working class as teachers and were able to study the Russian experiment first hand.

Inasmuch as a number of the members of the Sequoia Philatelic Society are boys and girls who are interested in educational stamp collecting, he started his talk with a travelogue telling of his travel not only in a number of countries in Europe but also in Russia and other parts of Asia including Palestine. He then told of the home life in Moscow, the schools, and the five year program, not only of industrialization but also in removing illiteracy. He stated that his impression along the line of education was that it was a great nation going to school. Those who have been given an education are expected to go out after working hours and conduct educational classes, lead in club work for girls and boys, etc. They traveled third class on the railroads in order that they might get more contacts with the working people.

After his talk Mrs. Orr gave a short talk in Russian costume and which they had picked up in many displayed many articles of interest out of the way places.

Ninety people were present including many parents, teachers, former pupils of Mr. Orr, and the Forty-Niner Pioneers of San Carlos. Roy A. Lohberger, the local Y. M. C. A. secretary was in charge of the meeting.

Colonial Days Reviewed at Club

Colonial Days were certainly reviewed at the Redwood City Woman's Club annual Jinks held yesterday at the club house.

White-wigged ladies in Colonial costumes, "gentlemen" in silken breeches and powdered wigs and many southern darkies mingled together in the atmosphere of the early American period.

A typical Southern luncheon of ham with all the fixings was served by four colored "men" waiters, Mrs. D. W. Williams being the "head waiter" and Mrs. Clayton Langford, Mrs. N. C. Cummings, and Mrs. Philip Forsyth assisting, and Miss Maude Kenrick, as a darky lassie, pouring the coffee.

The cooks, Mrs. William J. Dusel, Mrs. Caswell D. Sweet, Mrs. John W. Munday and Mrs. James D. Hedge, were all dressed as mamies. A skit, written by Mrs. Bess Balcomb, was presented later in the day. The setting was the interior of the George Washington home and the theme was a reception by the darkies to George Washington on his birthday. The cast was as follows:

"Uncle Tom"—Mrs. Bess Balcomb.
Martha Washington—Mrs. John Heckendorn.

George Washington—Mrs. R. E. Savage.
Dolly Madison—Mrs. Bradford Kelley.

Mrs. Alexander Hamilton—Mrs. Guy R. Kennedy.
Ophelia St. Clair—Mrs. T. W. Wilson.

During the play the darkies did a real old-fashioned cake walk and sang Southern melodies. Esther Kilbourne also did a very clever tap dance.

RACING SEASON TO START AT TANFORAN TRACK MARCH 31

Spring Racing at Tanforan will begin Tuesday, March 31st for a period of 21 days. Preparations for the third session of the sport under the control of the Pacific Coast Breeders Association are well under way.

The determination of the management to open the last day of March, instead of the first day of April was reached in order to keep faith with the horsemen in the matter of the promised 31 days and also to have an off day, Tuesday, April 7th, the opening day of the Pacific Coast League Baseball Season. In accordance with the custom established last year, there will be no racing on Good Friday which falls on April 3rd.

Joseph A. Murphy, who directs the meetings at Tanforan for the Breeders Association is in St. Louis, after a vacation in the south. He will leave for San Francisco, March 1st. After a day or two inspecting the plant at San Bruno he will go to Agua Caliente for a short trip and will open the offices of the Association in the Palace Hotel, Thursday, March 19th.

The officials who were in charge

last Fall will conduct the racing in the Spring with the exception that Herman Conkling will be held in Maryland by the Havre de Grace meeting. The complete list: Stewards—Joseph Murphy, Floyd McKenney; Judges at the Finish—W. R. Norvell, Peter Clark, J. S. Rothert; Racing Secretary—W. R. Norvell; Patrol and Paddock Judge, James F. Gallagher; Official Veterinarian, Dr. E. Masoero; Track Physician, D. F. H. Smith; Timer, James McDonnell; Track Superintendent, John Dennis.

With the close of the 21 days meeting coming Saturday, April 25th there will be ample time for horsemen to ship to Aurora, where the racing in the Chicago area opens for the year. The Bahr Starting Gate which has been stored at the Track all winter will be used in the races at the coming session.

Superintendent Dennis has been at work for some time on the racing strip, improving the top dressing and drainage, and the course promises to be in perfect condition for the sport.

STANFORD SWIM STARS TO TRY WITH OREGON

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 19—Several Pacific Coast Intercollegiate records will be in danger Friday afternoon when swimming teams of Stanford and Oregon clash in a dual meet here at 3:30.

A feature of the meet will be a diving exhibition by Pete Desjardins, Olympic Games champion in 1928 and Ed Thorndson, Stanford's intercollegiate champion of 1930. This pair will also put on the comedy stunt for which Desjardins and his partners have become famous.

The best race of the day will probably be the 200 yard breast stroke in which Whitey Burne, Indian holder of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate record of 2:44 faces the possibility of taking a second or third place. Oregon has two breaststrokers who have been beating Burne's record in practice.

The Cardinal quartet, composed of John Trotter, Jack McKelvey, Barrett Brown, and Ward Woods, is expected to win the regular 400 yard relay race and should finish in about 3:52.

Tuppy Gardiner, P. A. A. Junior champ in the 200, should give the Cardinals an edge in the 50 and 100 yard free style. Gardiner, who is capable of about 25 2-5 and 56 seconds, respectively, in the two races, shared high point honors with Austin Clapp in the recent intercollegiate meet. Gardiner will be backed by Jack Trotter in the 50 and Dave Thomas in the 100.

Frank Booth, star Stanford backstroke, is expected to contribute a record breaking performance in the 150 yard backward event with Barrett Brown not so far behind. The record is 1:49 2-5 and Booth is capable of 1:45.

Austin Clapp, of Olympic Games fame, is slated to win the 220 and 440 and is expected to crack the record of 5:24 in the latter event. Ward Woods in the 220 and Paul de Silva in the 440 should also add to the diving, aided by either Bill Warren or George Fraser.

may be right after all. In fact, he may have been conservative when he limited his career to three or four more years. The man might be knocking them over the fence ten years from now. Let's hope so.

Stanford will have a tough time in the 300 yard medley relay be-

MEN MUSHERS WERE GOOD—BUT NOT GOOD ENOUGH

At least, not to beat Idaho's stout-hearted little woman dog driver, Thula Geelan, in the Tahoe-Sierra Dog Derby. At the left, Mrs. Geelan is pictured driving her prize team of Irish setters over the finish line at Truckee, Cal., Feb. 15, to beat her nearest rival, Gil McCoy of Reno, Nevada, by more than two minutes. Her time over the 60-mile course, two round trips between Truckee and Tahoe Tavern, was 5 hours 57 minutes. cause of the northerners' strength in the breast stroke. The redskins will enter Booth in the backstroke lap, Burns in the breast stroke, and Gardiner in the free style.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 19—Baseball teams of St. Mary's and Stanford will meet here Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the first contest of a three game series. The game will be the first California Intercollegiate Baseball Association affair to be played in the Indians' recently completed sunken diamond which is said to be the finest university baseball park in the country.

CHANGES ANNOUNCED IN SCHOOL COACHES

With the announcement by A. C. Argo, principal, and Coach Frank Griffin, head of the boys' education department, that Coach Leonard Casanova, who for the past three years has been engaged at Sequoia as head baseball coach and assistant football mentor, will take over the coaching duties of football for the coming season, came the notice of coaching duties for the coming year 1931-32 at Sequoia high school.

Coach Ray Dimick, who for the past four years has had a successful period of turning out teams and good football players in the grid sport, will take care of lightweight basketball and continue as head track and field coach.

Coach Jim Eva, swimming and water mentor, will continue to turn out teams in these sports at Sequoia. Coach Eva was responsible for the introducing of water polo as league a league by itself for all schools that cared to enter teams.

Heavyweight basketball will again be taken care of by Coach Frank Griffin, who has turned out a number of league winning teams during the last ten years. He will assist Coach Casanova in baseball.

The Shreveport Texas League baseball club will be operated jointly this year by Jake Atz and T. S. Hickman. They recently purchased the franchise from O. L. Biedenharn.

Atz managed the Dallas, Tex., nine last year and had been hired by Biedenharn as head Shreveport club this season. Most of the Shreveport players were sold last year to other Texas league teams.

WATER POLOISTS TAKE LEAD OVER U. OF C. FRESHMEN

Continuing their winning streak the Sequoia Union high school varsity water polo team surprised the fans by trouncing the supposedly powerful University of California frosh team in the Olympic club pool Wednesday night, 17 to 0. In a water polo league game last Thursday afternoon, the Cherokees took the Menlo junior college varsity into camp for the second time 17 to 2.

Walt Worrell led the Cherokees attack in both of these games, scoring nine points in the Cherokees astonishing victory over the U. C. yearlings. Stuart and Frank Goldthwait also played stellar games with Cartwright, Adams, and Svihus showing up well.

The Cherokees have but one more contest left and that with Palo Alto high water polo team. The locals are favored to win this as indicated by the 15 to 0 score when the two squads clashed last time. The Cherokees and Vikings meet next Wednesday in the Red and Green pool.

Following was the Cherokee lineup for the last two contests: P. Goldthwait, sprint; Worrell, forward; Martin, forward; Adams, centerback; Cartwright, guard; Schroder, guard, and Svihus, goal.

SEQUOIA CAGERS TO MEET VIKING FIVES

In the final Peninsula Athletic League game of the season the Sequoia Union high school varsity and 130-pound teams will meet the Palo Alto high school quintets in the Cherokee gym this evening.

The Cherokee 130's gave a Vikings a close battle when the teams met last time three weeks ago and has an even chance to win this evening's clash. The Red and Green varsity is favorite to cop the heavyweight title because of their decisive victory over the Indians in the first game.

The Sequoia varsity has won two contests and lost three during the league season to date. The Cherokee 130's have won their last two lightweight tilts after losing all three contests of the first round of the league play.

The Paly varsity is in a tie for first place with San Mateo, having five wins.

Tonight's games will not effect the standing in the P. A. L. for the Cherokee teams as they are definitely out of the winning money. A victory for the Paly varsity will entrench that team firmly in tie for first with the Bearcats.

Coach Frank Griffin, Cherokee hoop mentor, is sending his charges into the game with a determination to end up the season with a win.

About the same teams that met the Vikings three weeks ago will be taking the floor tonight, led by Captain Leo LeRoy of the varsity and Captain Bruce Graham of the 130's. Both these leaders play center for their respective team.

Following is the lineup for tonight's games:

Varsity	Palo Alto
Sequoia Lengbehn	Anderson
Cullen	forward
LeRoy	forward
Bugge	center
Silva	guard
130's
Thimble	forward
Harris	forward
Graham	center
Morgan	guard
West	guard

CHAMPIONSHIP BOXING STARTED AT SEQUOIA

Battling for the school championship in their division, some twenty boys will enter the ring this afternoon when boxing for school titles makes its debut at Sequoia Union high school.

Members of the Cherokee boxing teams as well as other boys in school will participate in the fights. A ring is to be erected in the center of the boys' gym floor for the boxers.

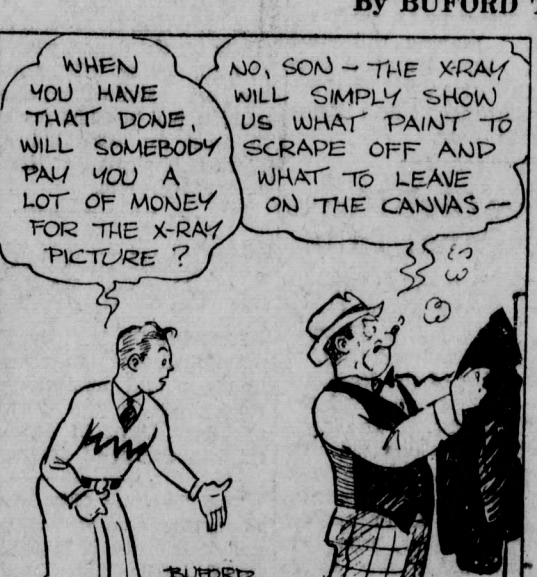

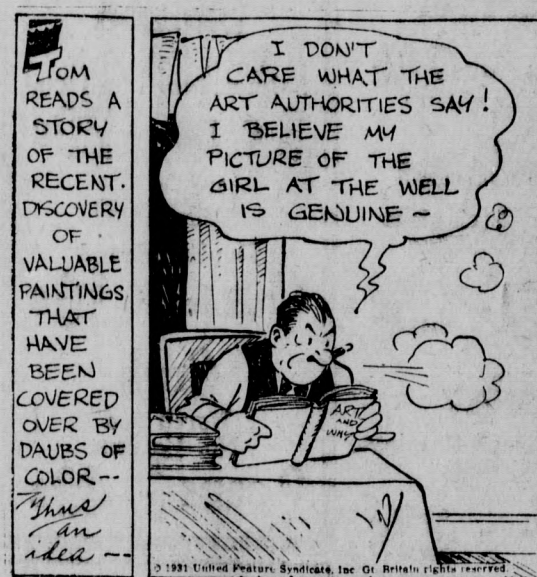

There will be two three minute rounds and one extra in case of a draw. This is the same as intercollegiate boxing.

Coach Clay Hite will referee the bouts. Members of the Block "S" Society will have charge of the fights.

Swart Decision

Board of Supervisors to promptly perform its duties when sitting as a Board of Equalization.

The board entered into a certain contract with the company in question for the purpose of gathering such information. The corporation furnished the data to the board of supervisors. The company filed claim for their services under the contract in question, and the auditor refused payment of the claim, and an action was thereupon commenced to force the auditor to honor the claim, and the plaintiff was successful, in the California District Court of Appeal. There apparently was no petition for rehearing, and the questions involved were not presented to the Supreme Court.

The court in upholding the claim, cites the case of Shidmore vs. West, 196 Cal., page 212, and seeks to distinguish the case from the case of Forward vs. San Diego with the following language:

"The decision is inapplicable to the fact of the instant case. The data furnished to the board of supervisors for the purpose of enabling the supervisors intelligently to perform their duties as a board of equalization. It is true that the assessor may make use of such data in assessing property during succeeding years, but he may likewise make similar use of any assessments, whatever the data may be upon which such adjustment may be made. It may be presumed that the assessor will be guided by the adjustments made by the board rather than by the data upon which such adjustments are based."

The distinction made by the court seems more in the nature of distinction in names than in actual reasoning and fact. In the case of Forward vs. San Diego, the Supreme Court held invalid the action of the board of supervisors in seeking to appoint an advisory board to cooperate with the assessor in making assessments. In the Haley Company case, the California Court of Appeals seems to hold valid a similar act of the board of supervisors because the information was for benefit of the board sitting as a board of equalization, but the court admits as follows:

"It is true that the assessor may make use of such data in assessing property during succeeding years." The Haley case is not a decision by the Supreme Court. If we are to follow that as an authority, and as a successful subterfuge of the decision in the case of Forward vs. San Diego, then we must validate the proposal of the board on the following grounds:

1. That this in fact is not a reassessment.
2. That it in fact is not to be used by the assessor.
3. That in fact the Board of Supervisors requires assistance as a Board of Equalization and, therefore, is willing to spend $22,000, or more, for the purpose of getting data before the Board of Supervisors as a Board of Equalization.

We say frankly that we believe this is a mere subterfuge and that it in effect and in spirit is in violation of the decision of Forward vs. San Diego and is violative of the constitutional provisions above referred to.

It perhaps is not out of place to observe that similar efforts have been made in other counties. One county is reported to have spent $250,000 in getting such a reappraisal. The Board of Supervisors didn't use it as a board of equalization, and the assessor refused to use it.

Another county is reported to have expended $200,000 in getting a reappraisal and the assessor refused to use it but is reported to have used it in compelling people to submit to his own assessment under threat that if they didn't accept his assessment he would adopt the reappraisal of the board of supervisors.

In short, if this effort is for the purpose of assisting the county assessor in making assessments, it is an illegal effort. If it is an effort to assist the board of supervisors as a board of equalization, it will not necessarily be of any value to the assessor for he is not obliged to accept a single finding under this proposal.

We have hesitated to go beyond our function as a legal advisor in this affair, but, since the matter has finally drifted into our hands, we submit the following suggestion:

1. There is no question but that one purpose prevails in this movement, which is — a proper assessment for San Mateo County.
2. Such assessments can not legally, and should not, be made through a subterfuge.
3. If the assessor needs four men for one year to make such an assessment, and perhaps some other clerical assistance, let the county government bill this year provide for such assistance for one year and have the assessment made adequately; and thereafter have one or two additional deputies for the assessor, to keep this assessment up to date.

There will be no difficulty to employ efficient, intelligent and honest citizens of San Mateo County at a salary of $250 per month for one year to make this assessment. This should be done at an expense not to exceed $14,000, and let's use the balance of the $22,000 in constructing needed improvements in San Mateo County and in employing San Mateo County men in performing that duty.

Our banks, our building and loan associations, our business men do not depend for property valuations for San Mateo County on experts from distant places.

Why should the county indulge in a questionable and very expensive subterfuge to accomplish that which our own business men accomplish with so little difficulty.

Respectfully submitted,
Franklin Swart,
District Attorney.

County Invited To Take Part In State Fair

Record Breaking Attendance Expected This Year At Sacramento

By J. F. McLAUGHLIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 20—With all signs pointing to a record-breaking attendance at the California State fair, September 12, in Sacramento, the State Agricultural Society has sent an official invitation to San Mateo county to install an exhibit in the huge horticultural pavilion where fruits and farm products of the state will be displayed.

"It is our expectation that every county in California will be represented at this great exposition," said Rolland A. Vandegrift, director of finance and official head of the state fair.

Calling attention to the fact that 1931 has been designated by the California Newspaper Publishers association and the State chamber of commerce as a "Fiesta Year," Vandegrift added that it is the aim of Governor Rolph and the state administration to make the state fair a banner event of the year.

Invitations will be sent to other western states to participate, and with all California counties entering exhibits, the fair will go down in history as the greatest on record, Vandegrift predicted.

For the last five years California's state fair has shown an astonishing increase in attendance and general interest. From a total attendance of 185,000 in 1925 the figure mounted to 325,545 in 1930. Exposition officials are aiming at the 500,000 mark this year, because of the fact that Labor day and Admission day both fall within the 8-day period of the fair.

"The state fair is an excellent means of advertising for every California county's products and resources," Vandegrift concluded. "Record show that visitors from every state in the union and from virtually every foreign country come to the fair. In addition to the thousands of persons who view these exhibits, an immense volume of advertising comes from exhibiting at this, the greatest annual exhibition on the Pacific slope."

Legislators of State May Pay County Visit

Propose Tour of State For Members of Governing Bodies

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 20—San Mateo county may be visited by members of the California state legislature some time during or after the forthcoming session, as part of a statewide tour designated to acquaint the lawmakers with their state.

This plan, which had its inception in Santa Barbara county, is based upon the theory that only persons with the best first-hand information about the state should be able to legislate intelligently, make laws and appropriate money for the state's needs with understanding and fairness to all sections.

Of the 117 members of both houses, it is asserted by those behind the trip, many from northern counties obtain no information about the south from personal observation.

Birthday of Pioneer Honored

By CLAUDE FOX

Should you some day drive to Woodside, that prosperous village lying between the foot hills and Kings Mountain, a place made historic by reason of its early settlement and admittedly a spot of beauty, turn to the right when you reach Neuman Bros. store, taking the road leading through the valley of the Canyada until you come to the handsome new residence of the Rosencrantz family. Just west of there you will find an open gate. Drive in. Hospitality prevades the atmosphere. Setting back toward the mountains about half way in a three acre tract you will find a modest cabin, somewhat weather-worn on the outside from time and the elements, but on the inside as spick, neat and span as your modern homes, the walls artistically decorated with mementos, which could they but speak, would tell wonderful tales.

It is nine chances out of ten that the front door will be found open, and be you friend, acquaintance or stranger, you will receive a cordial invitation to enter.

Such was the setting on the 12th inst. when the writer, in company with friends visited at the home of Johnny Fells and showered him with congratulations on the occasion of his eightieth birthday.

Flags were flying not only for our martyred President, but for Mr. Fells as well, for he is beloved by all who know him. Four score years sit lightly on his shoulders. With a clear keen eye, a quick, springy step and a remarkable memory stored with knowledge of past events he could easily be taken for half his age, and should one find him in reminiscent mood, hours could be spent in his company with profit listening to tales of the dim past. It is generally conceded that should Woodside become incorporated Johnny Fells would be its first mayor.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hess, Jr., had brought him a beautiful birthday cake, which each guest had to sample.

Those present at the time of my visit were Walter H. Kahln, Kittle G. Graham and William Carlson of San Francisco; Mrs. Charlotte M. Kelly and Elizabeth F. Rice, sister of Mr. Fells, with Geo. D. Rice, of Palo Alto; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peterson, Edith E. Letts and A. Costa of this city; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hess, Jr., and the writer. All received a most cordial welcome, with heartfelt requests from the host to come again.

STATE MAY REWARD CLERK

HARTFORD, Conn., (UP)—The General Assembly has received a bill which would reward the services of a man who entered state employment in 1879 as Governor's clerk and has served in that capacity under every state executive since then. If the bill is passed, Frank D. Rodd will be eligible for retirement on full pay. The measure would apply to anyone who has served the state continuously for 50 years.

Bureau of Standards Develops New Instruments for Workers

By J. W. YOUNG
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (UP)—A new instrument which makes measurements so accurately that it is apt to be out not more than four hundred-thousandths (.00004) of an inch one way or the other and does it without touching the parts being gauged has been developed by Dr. I. C. Gardner of the U. S. Bureau of Standards here.

It is called an optical coincidence gauge. One eyepiece which will magnify 85 diameters, prisms to change the direction of sight and adjusting lens make up this novel instrument.

The operator looks into the eyepiece, focuses it, and by careful adjustment makes two points, the distance between which is being measured, appear to be in almost the same spot. He then reads on a scale the distance between these spots accurate within four hun-

State Capitol Happenings

By HOMER L. ROBERTS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 19.—(UP)—Very special friends of Governor James Rolph, Jr., are going to have very special license plates for their automobiles. A set of 100 distinctive plates have been made and are being distributed by Russell Bevins, chief inspector of the California highway patrol. The plates run from R-1 to R-100, and do not have the customary numeral in front of the letter. Although officials deny that the plates entitle owners to special consideration, persons close to the governor declare if you have one of the plates on your car you can make a traffic cop lie right down in the middle of the highway and run over him, if you wish.

There will probably be no more parades of unemployed to the state capitol this year. The last one broke up in a riot in the lower part of town, in which two policemen were badly injured. A riot call went out from police headquarters, 50 of the rioters were jailed, and the so-called "Red" headquarters in front of which the fight occurred, were demolished.

Continuation of the work of simplifying California's laws and segregating them under 31 major headings were recommended by the California Code commission in its report to the state legislature and Governor Rolph. The committee reported the state's laws in a very deplorable condition, and recommended an additional legislative appropriation to carry on the work of codification.

Future governors of California would serve terms of 6 years instead of four, without the privilege of reelection, under a bill introduced by Senator J. M. Inman of Sacramento. The measure is a constitutional amendment and would require a favorable vote of the people. If adopted, it would not become effective with the governor in office.

ILLNESS HANDICAPS TEAM
UNIVERSITY, Miss., Feb. 20.—(UP)—University of Mississippi hopes for a successful basketball season were lessened when Captain Charley Graeber was taken sick with scarlet fever. Six other scarlet fever cases were isolated and led to isolation of the hospital and homes where the students lived.

QUIZZED IN MINES
BUTTE, Mont., (UP)—Students of the Montana School of Mines here recently completed semester examinations. Seniors were taken into some of the deep mines for the "quizzes" which extended over several days.

BLIND CARRY POLICE WHISTLE
NEW HAVEN, Conn., (UP)—The shrill blast of a police whistle may mean the cop saw you speeding, or just a blind man crossing the street here now. Members of the New Haven Association of the Blind have just been authorized to carry police whistles to summon assistance when they wish to cross a street.

At the time. A 6-year term, Inman believes, would give a government time to carry out a comprehensive program. Denial of the right to seek a second term would obviate many bitter political feuds and sectional battles.

What do you do when there are four jobs open and 256 persons to fill them? That's the question members of the Sacramento board of supervisors are asking as the result of a letter received from E. Raymond Cato, superintendent of the California highway patrol. Cato said the patrol is contemplating adding four new patrolmen in Sacramento. The supervisors checked their list of applicants, and found 256.

Death this week claimed Leroy Coan, keeper of the archives in the office of Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan for the last 19 years. He died on his 72nd birthday. Coan, who came to Sacramento from Auburn, where he had been a deputy sheriff, left no near relatives. He had been in a local hospital for six weeks.
